

JULIE...

Kind regards. I wish to you and your family God's abundant blessings.

Now I want to let you know that this year has been the best because I am studying to become a nurse and each day that passes by I like more the career I chose. However, this career requires a lot of effort because there are many assignments and little time to complete them but I have learned to manage that.

I had to do my practical training at a nursing home and, you know, it was very nice because I could help elders that needed it. It was great to see their joy in their eyes when the students arrived to help them. They told us a lot of nice things. They seem very vulnerable and that puts tears in your eyes. I felt really sad when my practical training was over because the elders were crying thinking we will never return to see them. But that is not true because since then I go to see them once per week.

On July 26th I started my second semester and it is going to be hard because I have to work with addicts and special children. However, with God's help everything is going to be ok.

It has been very nice to meet new people who have a totally different way of thinking compared to my high school friends. With these new friends you can express your point of view without the fear of being rejected because they are mature. It is true; all I have lived this year has been very pleasant.

Julie, I would like to know where you have been and what you have been doing recently. It has been long since I heard from you. Please write back.

Thank you for all the support you have given me. It is thanks to your support that I am where I am now. I thank God every day for allowing me to fulfill my dream. I had dreamt about it all my life.

I say bye now wishing you God's blessings.

Sincerely,

Brigitte Paola
