

Dear sponsors Bill and Marcia:

I feel so happy for the opportunity I had to meet you and also for the time I shared with you. You are beautiful and marvelous people and I thank God for the time he gave me to share it with you. The rest of the members of the group were also nice and friendly.

During the month of July I have been taking a course related to the practical training for the semester and thanks to God I passed it. That means I will start my practical training next Monday and that will take place at a school close to my house. I was given the grades I will be teaching to and also the schedules. It is a lot of work- it will take almost the entire day-but with God's help everything will be fine.

The truth is that I feel very anxious about teaching and also I feel I little scared because it is no easy task to teach a group of 35 students. I have been thinking about doing interesting and cool activities for them in order to get their attention. I am also fervently praying to God for wisdom, the right attitude and right temper to undertake this task and be successful.

I am going to be really busy this semester because I have to be at the school to teach from 7 a.m. to 12 and then I have to go to the university to take classes from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. I just pray that the massive transportation system flies so that I can be on time. I am very excited and motivated this semester and I will do the best I can to get good grades. To achieve this goal I am studying the subjects prior to the class so I am clear about them and be able to teach them properly. I am also studying some subjects at the university ahead of time.

I am clear about the responsibility I am undertaking because it has to do with the preparation of youth and whatever I do is going to have a great influence in their lives. I feel confident about undertaking this task and the reason is the fact I know God and His Word, Jesus the Master of Masters. I ask God to be my guide at all times and ask Him to help me make right decisions in this field. In conclusion, I place all my projects in God's hands and I ask Him to take away my fear and concerns. I want to remember He loves me and encourages me to be brave and strong because this gives meaning to life.

I look forward to hear from you. I want to know about your trip and also hear your comments about our beautiful country and about its people. Last but not least, once again I feel very happy for the opportunity I had to have you visiting my home and also for the opportunity to share time with you. I have to say it again; you will always be in my heart and prayers. Many greetings from my mother and sister Nora! They also love you very much.

With appreciation,

Wilson Javier
